MOUNT VERNON, OHIO:

FRIDAY MORNING, MARCH 11, 1881.

Governor Foster now wishes he hadn't paid that Chicago hotel-bill.

After a week's adjournment the Legislature resumed work on Tuesday.

The Cincinnati Commercial makes the discovery that President Garfield is "James V."

It is creditable to President Garfield's head and heart that he has not forsaken his good old mother.

The President-elect vetoed the Funding Bill before he shook the Washington mud from his feet.

The Indianapolis Journal (Rep.) is very indignant because an Indiana man was not invited to take a seat in Garfield's Cabinet.

The lower House of the Pennsylvania Legislature, by a vote of 98 to 10, adopted a resolution of sympathy with the Irish cause.

It is thought that Secretary Bob Lincoln can manage the War Department in time of peace. That is he knows how to do nothing.

General Charles Grosvenor, of Athens county, would like to be made Solicitor General under the United States Attorney General.

President Garfield and family attended the little Christian church on Vermont avenue on the Sunday after his arrival in Washington.

Mrs. Athey the Tuscarawas county murderess, has been found guilty of murder in the second degree, which sends her to the penitentiary for life.

All the physicians at Hosack Falls, N. Y., have agreed to respond to no calls from families who have unpaid bills more than three months old.

Mr. Blaine sent his resignation as U. S. Senator to the Legislature of Maine on Saturday. Mr. Fry will be elected his successor without opposition.

One good feature of the revised edition of the New Testament is that newspaper men will be obliged to read it through again so as to quote from it correctly hereafter.

A clergyman of New York, Dr. Armitage, admits that human beings are often better than they seem. This is true, and he also might have added—frequently not so good as they seem.

General Collins, President of the Land League in America, says that his love for America is like that of a husband for his wife, while his love for Ireland resembles that of a man for his friend and mother.

It is said that President Garfield will at once send Stanley Matthews' name to the Senate as Justice of the Supreme Court, and the friends of that gentleman believe that his nomination will be promptly confirmed.

David Dudley Field was 76 years old on Saturday, and is the oldest of New York lawyers in active practice. He is said to be as vigorous as he was twenty years ago, and walks up Broadway as erect as a grenadier.

General Charles Ewing, brother of General Thomas Ewing, is urged for the Governorship of New Mexico. It will be recalled that General Charles married the only daughter of the late Hon. John K. Miller, of Mt. Vernon.

The census is said to show an excess of 888,298 males in this country, there being only 95,510 females to every 100,000 males, against 97,801 in 1870. It appears, therefore, that there must be of necessity a good many old bachelors.

Senator Hereford of West Virginia suggests that the money owed the Government by the Pacific Railroads should be distributed among various States and Territories as an educational fund. He will present a bill to Congress embodying this idea.

Judge J. W. McMill (an Ohio man) has been appointed by the Governor of Iowa to fill the unexpired term of United States Senator Kirkwood. Angus Cameron was nominated on the 18th ballot as United States Senator from Wisconsin, to succeed Matt Carpenter, deceased.

"The friends of Governor Foster at Columbus, who are indignant because his name does not appear in the list of the Cabinet, take a narrow view of the case," says the Cincinnati Commercial. That may be; but broken promises will be remembered by Mr. Foster's friends nevertheless.

The latest failure of enough importance to make a sensation occurred in Meadville, in the case of a merchant who endeavored to spread himself over five towns when he was not big enough to fairly cover one. His liabilities are estimated at $250,000; what his assets are the poor creditors perhaps have hardly the heart to inquire.

A Methodist revival at Bellefontaine is conducted in a vigorous manner. The minister in one meeting got down on all fours, and crept up and down the aisle to illustrate a dog simile; and on another occasion several of the sisters seized a young sinner of their own sex, and forcibly carried her to the chancel. She cried for help, and was rescued by her mother.

John Thackeray of Good View, Ga., kept $30,000 securely invested for twelve years and lived on the interest. He made no effort to add to the principal, and had a morbid desire never to lessen it. Lately he was compelled to draw out $1,000, and this threw him into deep despondency. He could be happy with $30,000, but not with $29,000, and so he committed suicide.

Dr. McLean, of St. Louis, has invented a gun which fires 4,320 balls per minute. The terrible weapon was successfully tested at the Washington Navy Yard on Saturday. It is more than possible that, as the effect of the constantly improving methods of putting men to death, war will in time become obsolete, and peace reign as the only preservative of armies from certain and total annihilation.

Garfield's Cabinet.

At 3 o'clock, Saturday afternoon, President Garfield sent the following Cabinet nominations to the Senate, which were promptly and unanimously confirmed:

Secretary of State—James G. Blaine, of Maine.

Secretary of the Treasury—William Windom, of Minnesota.

Secretary of War—Robert T. Lincoln, of Illinois.

Secretary of the Navy—William H. Hunt, of Louisiana.

Postmaster-General—Thomas L. James, of New York.

Secretary of the Interior—Samuel J. Kirkwood, of Iowa.

Attorney-General—Wayne MacVeagh, of Pennsylvania.

This is a "compromise" Cabinet, intended, if possible, to harmonize the discordant elements in the Republican party. It will be noticed that Governor Foster has not been honored with a position in the New Cabinet, although his personal and confidential friends in Columbus took great pains to announce that Mr. Foster had been offered the position of Postmaster-General, and had agreed to accept it. The Governor took his "guard" and a brass-band to Washington, and bade an affectionate farewell to hosts of political friends, especially the gentlemen who have their hearts set upon sundry village post-offices. The disappointment of these gentlemen is great and their indignation is boundless. They appear to think, however, that there is something better in reserve for Governor Charles, such as a Foreign Mission; but in this, too, we predict, they will be sorely disappointed.

But while Ohio has no direct representation in the Cabinet, it is pleasing to know that two of her former distinguished sons have thus been honored.

Hon. William Windom, the new Secretary of the Treasury, is not only an Ohio man, but has the honor of being a Knox county boy, who used to roam up and down the hills and valleys of Old Middlebury, feeding and driving his father's flocks. He read law with the late Judge R. C. Hurd; was admitted to the bar here in Mt. Vernon; formed a partnership with a brother student, the late Hon. Daniel S. Norton, Jr., (a brother-in-law of Judge Hurd); was elected Prosecuting Attorney of Knox County in 1852, and served for one term with credit to himself and to the people of the county. Messrs. Windom and Norton about 1855 "went west to grow up with the country." Mr. Windom was soon elected to Congress from Minnesota, and Mr. Norton was chosen United States Senator from the same State. Subsequently, Mr. Windom succeeded Mr. Norton in the Senate, and remained a prominent and influential member of that body up to the 4th of March, when he was invited to take Mr. Sherman's place as Secretary of the Treasury. His many friends in all parties in Knox county, trust that his administration may be crowned with success.

Hon. Samuel J. Kirkwood, the new Secretary of the Interior, hails from our neighboring county of Richland, where he read and practiced law, and was elected Prosecuting Attorney on the Democratic ticket. He too, like Windom and Norton, "went west to grow up with the country." He settled in Iowa, turned Republican, and in a few years became Governor of his adopted State. He subsequently became United States Senator thus verifying the maxim that "Ohio is the mother of Statesmen."

James G. Blaine, Secretary of State, is unquestionably the ablest man in the new Cabinet—that is, the ablest as a political leader and debater; but in his name has never originated, nor in his name has been associated with any great reformatory measure that has shed lustre upon our country's history and glory.

Robert Lincoln, Secretary of War, is the "son of his father," who is better known as the "martyr President," who was elected by reason of a split in the Democratic party in 1860. He is said to be a very clever gentleman and a fair lawyer, but is not remarkable for anything save being the son of Abraham Lincoln.

William H. Hunt, Secretary of the Navy, is a citizen of New Orleans, but is very little known, and possesses only ordinary abilities.

Wayne MacVeagh, although a brother-in-law of Senator Don Cameron, is opposed to the "Cameron clique," and his appointment is due to have been made in opposition to Cameron's protest.

Thomas L. James, the Postmaster-General, has been Postmaster of New York City for several years past, and is said to be a gentleman of fine executive abilities. His appointment is a concession to Boss Conkling, and hence is displeasing to the other wing of the Republican party in New York.

Upon the whole, the Cabinet is not so remarkable for strength; and we believe if Mr. Garfield had been left to obey the dictates of his own judgment, he would have selected stronger and better men for his "Constitutional advisers."

Among the claims presented by a farmer to the Rhode Island Legislature, for damages done by his premises by a militia regiment, was one of $50 for "use of house while taken care of sick soldier & attention &c." This item is found to have been based on the fact that an indisposed soldier sat on the piazza from 10 A. M. until 4 P. M., and all the damage was in the terrible mental anxiety of his wife.

Another party of children, 100 in number, has been furnished homes in the West by the Astor family. As the said family has promptly led off in showing up rents in New York City, as large a number as that which probably be deprived of the homes they have had and compelled to accept inferior ones, so humanity isn't very deeply in debt to the Astor family up to the last balancing of the ledger.

A British scientist tells us that the sudden changes in the weather in 1880 "occasioned more deaths than happens when cholera, or any other pestilence stalks over the land," and it is proverbially said that March makes "a fat churchyard."

This winter and spring will long be remembered as one of unusual severity, and alternations developing an extraordinary amount of sickness and death.

We are opposed to the whipping-post," says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, "but not for highly esthetic reason advanced by Bob Ferguson—that no punishment should be prescribed by law which a gentleman could not inflict. It seems to us that this rule, if enforced would interfere with capital punishment. We do not know of a more ungentlemanly act than to hang a man."

Private Dalzell and Don Platt are engaged in the delightful task of gouging each other's eyes out. Don calls the Private "the National Fool."

GARFIELD'S INAUGURATION.

An Elected President Installed in the White House.

Grand and Impending Demonstration—General Hancock Enthusiastically Received—President Garfield's Address.

WASHINGTON, March 4, 1881.—The arrangements for the inaugural were perfect, and the details passed off with the precision of clock work. The procession started from the White House for the Capitol shortly after ten o'clock. There were twenty-five thousand troops in line, making by far the grandest military display ever seen at an inauguration in this country. Many of these, however, did not fall into line until the return from the Capitol to the White House. The largest number of citizen soldiers were from Pennsylvania, which State sent seven thousand. New York came next in point of number, and Maryland next.

General Sherman was Grand Marshal of the procession. After riding along the line and receiving salutes from the commanders of the several divisions, General Sherman and his aide passed into the White House grounds. The only military organizations stationed within were the Governor's Guard of Columbus, an Infantry organization, and the City Troop of Cleveland—the crack organizations of Ohio.

Very soon ex-President Hayes and President Garfield met their appearance, drawn by four spirited bays in a splendid carriage. President Garfield and the remainder of the Cabinet occupied the back seats. Facing them were Senators Anthony and Bayard. A detachment of mounted police rode ahead to clear the way. In their rear were a large number of United States regulars and marines, and then came the Cleveland City Troop, acting as the President's Guard of Honor. They were in French chasseur uniform, with helmets, yellow plumes and fringes, and their marching and drilling was superb.

strengthened, and the growth in all the better elements of national life has vindicated the wisdom of the founders and given new hope to their descendants. Under this Constitution our people long ago admitted themselves to be a free people, without, and secured for their mariners and flag equality of rights on all the seas. Under the Constitution twenty-five States have been added to the Union, with blessings of local self-government. The jurisdiction of this Constitution now covers an area fifty times greater than that of the original thirteen States, and a population twenty times greater than that of 1870.

The supreme trial of the Constitution came at last, and the tremendous pressure of civil war. We ourselves are witnesses that the Union emerged from the blood and fire of that conflict purified and made stronger for all the beneficent purposes of peace and progress.

The close of the first century of growth, with the inspirations of its history in their hearts, our people have lately reviewed the condition of the nation, passed judgment upon the past, and have chosen their political parties, and having registered their will concerning the future administration of the Government. To interpret and to execute that will in accordance with the spirit and the letter of the Constitution is the paramount duty of the Executive.

Even from this brief review it is manifest that the nation is resolutely facing the future, resolved to employ its best energies to the preservation of the Union, and to the preservation of the rights of the people. Sincerely preserving whatever has been gained to liberty and good government during the century, our people are determined to leave behind them a government that shall be a model to the world.

THE SILVER QUESTION.

The prosperity which now prevails is without a parallel in our history. Fruitful seasons have done much to secure it, but they have not done all. The preservation of the public credit and the resumption of specie payments so successfully attained by the administration of my predecessor, are the chief reasons for the success of the present administration. By the experience of commercial nations in all ages it has been found that gold and silver alone could not furnish a sound monetary system. Confidence has recently been created by variations in the relative value of the two metals, but I confidently believe that arrangements can be made which will secure the general use of both metals. Congress should provide that the compulsory coinage of silver now required by law may not disturb our monetary system. If possible, such an adjustment should be made that the purchasing power of every coined dollar will be exactly equal to its debt-paying power. The chief duty of the national Government in connection with the currency of the country is to coin and declare its value. Grave doubts have been entertained whether Congress is authorized by the Constitution to make any form of paper money a legal tender. The present issue of United States notes has been sustained by the necessities of war, but such paper money is not a permanent remedy. It is upon its convenience in use and its prompt redemption in coin at the will of the holder, and not upon its compulsory circulation, that its value rests. It is not money, and it is not a legal tender. It is a demand for the promises should be kept.

The refunding of the national debt at a lower rate of interest should be accomplished without compelling the withdrawal of the national bank notes, and thus disturbing the business of the country. I venture to refer to the position I have occupied in regard to the currency during my long service in Congress, and to say that the moral and industrial forces of the people. It has liberated the master as well as the slave from a relation which wronged both.

The interests of agriculture deserve more attention from the Government than they have yet received. The farms of the United States afford homes and employment for more than one-half our people and furnish much the largest part of our exports. Various plans to improve our means of transportation have been proposed, and the Government is now engaged in the construction of the great St. Lawrence canal, and by the increase of our tonnage on the coast.

Our manufacturers are rapidly making us industrially independent, and are opening to capital and labor new and profitable fields. This steady and healthy growth should be maintained. Our facilities for transportation should be promoted by the continued improvement of our harbors and great interior waterways, and by the increase of our tonnage on the coast.

— Mt. Vernon Lecture Association.
"The best foreign lecturer we have ever heard in this country is William Parsons, and he is an Irishman who has come over every year for ten years past." This opinion of Mr. Parsons was given by Mr. James Redpath in the first of a series of cleverly written articles on the leading lecturers of the day, which appeared last winter in the San Francisco Chronicle; and certainly no man is more competent to pass judgment on the abilities of a lecturer than the founder of the Bureau system in the United States. The high estimation in which Mr. Parsons' abilities are held is confirmed by the fact that his professional career as a lecturer has been emphatically the most brilliant success ever achieved in this country by any European orator; for Mr. Parsons is an orator in the highest sense of the word. In Boston alone he has lectured upwards of eighty times, and during the eleven seasons he has been in America he has lectured upwards of nine hundred times. The most popular of his lectures is the one on "Old Homer." Two years ago Mr. Parsons visited Greece and Asia Minor for the special purpose of making himself conversant with the details of the ancient world, and he has embodied the result of those observations in his magnificent oration on this subject, thereby achieving one of the greatest triumphs ever recorded in the history of the lecture platform. No one should miss hearing this lecture. We extend a hearty invitation to all neighboring towns. Gambier, the seat of learning in old Knox, should turn out en masse, to this literary treat. Mr. Vernon has ever lent a willing hand to Gambier in her literary ventures. Mr. Parsons will deliver his lecture Kirk's Opera House, Thursday evening, March 17th. Admission fifty cents. Tickets on sale at Chase & Cassell's Book Store.

His remains were brought to this city, on Tuesday, and interred in the family burying ground. His wife, brother Samuel and two sons, Timothy (now Sheriff of Athens county) and Charles accompanied the remains to this city.

THE SCHOOL BOOK WAR.

Grave Charges Against Members of the Board—The Fight to be Carried Into the Spring Election.
Just at the present time there is a bitter internecine warfare going on in the ranks of the Republican party in this city. The ruction dates back for more than two years, when efforts were made to oust Prof. Marsh from the Superintendent of the schools, and place therein a brother-in-law of a member of the Board of Education. Much bitter feeling was engendered, and several lively sessions of the Board were held in which criminalizations and recriminations were indulged in, together with accusations of corruption and venality. In December 1879, an effort was made to change the text books in the schools and substitute the Appleton for the McGuffey series of readers. The change had been consummated, it is estimated, would have cost the tax-payers of the city, or those sending children to school, several thousand dollars. A resolution was manipulated through the Board by one of its members, (said to be an agent of D. Appleton & Co.), by which an effort was made to change the readers. Professor Marsh, who had carefully examined the Appleton series and pronounced them inferior to the McGuffey's, on the advice of other members of the Board declined to make the change. This resulted in the agent of the Appletons, through attorneys filing a petition for a mandamus, commanding the Board of Education and Prof. Marsh to require the pupils in the public schools to use D. Appleton & Co.'s series of readers, declaring that Prof. Marsh acted willfully and illegally in the premises.

For answer the defendants aver that on the 21st day of December, 1879 a member of said Board of Education was an agent for the firm of D. Appleton & Co.; that acting in the interests of said firm he offered a resolution that said Board adopt the Appleton readers, and said resolution was adopted; that the clerk of said Board in making up the minutes or record of the proceedings, did not correctly record said resolution. [Erasures and alterations appearing on the minutes:] that said minutes and record were not approved or signed by the President, and therefore the resolution was not binding. Defendant denies that Board required pupils to use Appleton readers, and that the failure of the agent of D. Appleton & Co. to secure a change of readers was greatly to the advantage and benefit of the tax-payers of the city. Defendant avers further that all of the patrons and pupils of said schools of Mt. Vernon, the relation (John K. Landburgh) and two other persons only, requested permission to use other readers than McGuffey's; and these other persons were procured to make said request by the entreaties, importunities and promises of the hired agents and attorneys of said D. Appleton & Co., without knowing the inferiority of the Appleton readers and the injuries to said pupils and patrons likely to result from a change of readers.

Prof. Marsh in a card over his own signature in last week's Republican, gives some of the "true inwardness" of the controversy. He says that A. B. McIntire, J. C. Gordon and W. P. Bogardus are responsible for the attempt to change the readers; that the former is impelled by a desire to secure "soft places" for his relatives as teachers in the schools, and the latter with a purpose to feather his own nest and secure a monopoly in furnishing "school supplies," and in this connection he insinuates that the reason the itemized statement of the expenditures of the Board for 1878 was not published last Spring, as the law requires, was for the reason that Bogardus' name appeared so frequently upon the list; and being Clerk of the Board he smothered the report in a pigeon-hole.

Dr. Gordon and Mr. Bogardus announce themselves as candidates for re-election on the Board, while a card signed "First and Fifth Ward Republicans," presents the names of Col. W. C. Cooper and Dr. B. B. Scott for the same places.
The fight is on, and is the subject of daily corner controversy and general discussion wherever groups of people assemble together. But what interests the taxpayer most of all is whether the charges of corruption and jobbery in the Board are true.

— A Thronged City.
Last Saturday, the weather being delightful, with the smiles of a bright sun falling upon the earth, had the effect of attracting to our city, a large number of people from the surrounding country. The main thoroughfare was lined with buggies, wagons, and vehicles of all descriptions, while the side walks, stores and public places were filled with people. It seemed to be a glad occasion for the people to come together after the freezing weather of the past winter, in order to revive old acquaintanceship, and to spend a few hours in talking over the prospects of the coming crops. Our merchants all seemed to be busy.

— A Monstrosity.
Clay township, Knox county, produced a monstrosity last week, that will compare favorably with some of the "franks of nature," that have been reared in our neighborhood county of Morrow. A cow belonging to David Bowman gave birth to a double calf, that was joined together something after the fashion of the Siamese twins—having two perfect heads, two separate spinal columns, and two tails; but the lower portion of the bodies was joined together, and had it lived would have supported itself upon four legs. Morrow county will have to look out for its laurels.

— Spring Cleaning.
After so long and severe a winter unusual exertions will need to be made to clean up the accumulated filth, as soon as spring opens. The recent thaw showed piles of ashes and rubbish in all directions, infected with slops, filth and disease. As soon as Jack Frost gets his hold, the germs of pestilence will begin to fill the air, and unless the work of purification is prompt and thorough, we may expect a great amount of sickness. A glance at some of the alleys will reveal disease in every square inch of the reeking filth with which they are filled, and especially in those alleys into which heaps of ashes and rubbish are dumped, saturated with the foulest of liquids. We thus early call the attention of the authorities to the matter, that they may be prepared to attend to it at the earliest moment. Otherwise the doctors, death and the undertakers will hold high carnival.

— The Law of Newspapers.
The courts have decided that if a person order his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears or the publisher may continue to send it until the payment is made, and collect the whole amount whether the paper is taken from the postoffice or not. Also, action for fraud can be instituted against any person, whether he is responsible or not, who refuses to pay for a publication. Some forget this, and think by merely refusing to take the paper from the postoffice they settle the matter.

— The Best Cure Extant.
DR. WILLIAM SPOONER'S Vegetable Aque Pills are unparalleled for their IMMEDIATE cure of all bilious diseases. Their efficacy is proven in their constant curing of verified properties. Unlike quinine and other stimulating ingredients, they remove the malarious secretions, and thus purify the Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder. They are purgative, and move the bowels without pain.

Chills and Fever, Chronic or Dumb Aque, Intermittent and Bilious Fevers, and Bilious Stick Headache, cured by these Pills without fail. They are warranted to be free from calomel or any mineral substance.
BERNIE SPRINGS, BERNIE CO., MICH., July 1.
DR. SPOONER, Sir—I have used, and used your Aque Pills in my family for a year or two, and the more I know of them, the more I am pleased with them. I can recommend them as being the safest and best Aque medicine I ever met with.

— DRY GOODS DOWN IN PRICE.
Especially of the finest and more popular goods. The eastern market being largely overstocked, prices have taken a decided tumble, and goods can be bought to-day at from 15 to 50 per cent. less than six weeks ago. To satisfy yourself in this point, it is only necessary to examine the offerings now displayed by J. S. Ringwalt, being the result largely of recent purchases upon a glutted New York market. In Brocade velvets, brocade plushes, satin de Lyons, black and gold silks of all kinds, handkerchiefs and suitings, the reduction in prices is astonishing. The value of these goods depending solely upon the Eastern market, may at any time advance again as suddenly as they have declined, so that our advice to our readers would be to act promptly if they have any purchases to make. d10f

— A Cough, Cold or Sore Throat should be stopped. Neglect frequently results in an Incurable Lung Disease or Consumption. Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is certain to give relief in Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Catarrh, Consumptive and Throat Diseases. For thirty years the Froches have been recommended by physicians, and always give perfect satisfaction. They are not new or untried, but having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age. Public Speakers and Singers use them to clear and strengthen the Voice. Sold at twenty-five cents a box everywhere. nov1m

— Good Advice.
If you keep your stomach, liver and kidneys in perfect working order, you will prevent and cure by far the greater part of the ills that afflict mankind in this or any other country. There is no medicine known that will do this as quickly or surely as Parker's Ginger Tonic, which will secure a perfectly natural action of these important organs without interfering in the least with your daily duties.
